Peace Is A Gift From Nature

Preface:

Even as cities touched the clouds,
something more magical was quietly blooming below.

A life where mornings hum with birdsong,
where every breeze carries whispers of rain-soaked earth,

where serenity flows like sunlight through leaves.
Also, where mornings are wrapped in quiet prayer,
and the breeze carries the calm of centuries past.
Where light doesn't just illuminate—it sanctifies.

Not an escape—but a rediscovery.

A return to beauty. To balance. To belonging. To divinity
